Excerpt from New Edition of the Babylonian Talmud, Vol. 10: Original Text, Edited, Corrected, Formulated Into Translated; Edition of Talmud Babylonian Talmud Mishna I. Three days before the festival of the heathen, it is forbidden to have any business with them. In the future the Lord will take the Holy Scroll in hand, saying, He who was occupied with it shall appear and receive his reward. The kingdom of Rome will then enter first, etc. After Rome has departed, Persia enters, etc. We have constructed many bridges, conquered many great cities, we were engaged in many wars, all for the sake of Israel to enable them to study the law, etc. Have we then accepted the Torah, and not fulfilled its commandments? A Gentile who is occupied with the study of the law is likened to a High-priest, etc. Lord of the Universe, has then Israel, who has accepted the Torah, observed it? Men of ye nations may come and testify that Israel has observed the Torah. Nimrod may testify, etc. There are twelve hours in a day, three hours of which the Lord is occupied with the Torah, etc. There is no smiling by the Lord, since the temple was destroyed. But in the fourth three hours He teaches, etc. There is no Gehenna in the future. But the Lord will take out the sun from its sheath, etc. If not for the fear for government the stronger would swallow the weaker, etc. Concerning the explanation of (Amos, iii. 2) said R. Abuhuh, I will do it in the form of a parable. There was once a creditor of two persons, one a friend and the other an enemy of his. It is advisable for one not to pray singly the additional benediction in the first three hours at the first day of new year. When one performs a meritorious act in this world it precedes him in the world to come. Three days, etc. Is such a long time needed? is this forbidden because a Jew must not interfere with the idols, or because Thou shalt not put a stone for the blind? The prohibition to do business with them refers only to a thing which can be kept in good order until the festival day. It is advisable for one to always arrange the praises of the Omnipotent first, and thereafter to recite the daily eighteen benedictions. The following are the festivals of the heathens: Kalends, Saturnalia, Kratsin, etc. Adam the first, on the first day of his creation, when he saw the sun set, cried: Woe is to me, the world is to be returned to chaos, etc. Thirty-two battles the Romans fought with the Greeks, etc. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
